MR VANSITTART'S REPORT.

COLONIZATION AND IMMIGRATION.

Mr Vansittart, in his admirable report to the Foreign Office, has succeeded in making a blue book interesting. A most difficult task, as usually these Parliamentary publications are the dryest of reading, and rejected by the general public.

In this very able report we find many chapters that will much interest our readers, for, although we are next door neighbours to Paraguay, few of us know much of what is going on up there, and the excellent emigration and colonization laws which the Paraguayan Government have passed may be news of much importance to those of our fellow countrymen who have not been over successful down here.

Paraguay is one of the richest and most fertile spots on this continent; its estancia lands are to be had for a mere song, and from what we gather from this report, it seems to be more suited for the poor man than even this Republic. The rapid growth of the German colonies is another proof of what the present Paraguayan Government is doing to develop the country, and with pleasure we reproduce the following chapter from this most ably drawn up report:—

There is a marked tendency, at the present moment, on the part of Germans, to emigrate to Paraguay. This is chiefly to be attributed to the indefatigable efforts of Mr Metzler, a German merchant residing at Asuncion, but at present Commissary-General for Emigration, who leaves no stone unturned to induce his countrypeople to emigrate to Paraguay, as well as to the unusually liberal terms and grants afforded to European immigrants by the Government.

There are two Colonies established in Paraguay. The first is called 'Villa Hayes,' but only includes fifty foreigners amongst its settlers, the remainder being composed of soldiers sent there for correctional purposes.

The second, which is designated by the name of San Bernardino, is situated on Lake Ipacarai opposite to the railway station of Areguá, and distant about 7 leagues from Asuncion. The San Bernardino Colony was established about a year ago, and is at present inhabited by over 300 Germans. This Colony is rapidly increasing in numbers, fresh families arriving by almost every steamer.

At the present moment, the settlers occupy themselves with planting on a small scale various articles, such as potatoes, peas, etc., and Mr Metzler, the Commissary-General for Immigration, seems fairly well pleased at the results hitherto obtained, although he complains that many Germans, after having been granted passages as colonists by the agents in the River Plate ports, come out to Paraguay, being wholly ignorant of the most elementary notions of agriculture. These people (single men as a rule), after having enjoyed the privileges and subventions granted to European colonists by the Government, frequently, from incapacity, do not succeed in their work, and on their return to Germany give disparaging and unjust accounts of Paraguay, thus discrediting the country abroad. However, with the exception of accidents of this kind, Mr Metzler speaks well of the colony and of the general working order established there.

For the benefit of Englishmen intending or thinking of emigrating to Paraguay, I append, in translation, the principal provisions of the Law of Immigration now in force, and which was passed by Congress on the 7th June, 1881:—

"Article 1. A free passage from the River Plate ports to Asuncion.

"Art. 2. Provisions for six months, and if circumstances render it necessary for one year, paid in cash at the rate of 20 cents (10d) per day to adults and children over 12 years of age: children under 12 years of age are to receive 10 cents (5d.) per day.

"Art. 3. A complete assortment of agricultural instruments, including a plough, and all kinds of seeds adapted for the country, as well as an ox, together with a cow and one calf, are allotted to each family.

"Art. 4. Free conveyance from the Emigrant House in Asuncion to the Colony.

"Art. 5. A lot of 16 square cuadras of land suitable for cultivation is dealt out to married men, families, &c., . . . each cuadra being equal to 100 Spanish varas (a Spanish vara is a little less than an English yard).

"Each unmarried colonist wishing to establish himself in a colony enjoys the same advantages as the married man, only, instead of 16 square cuadras, he is given the half, or a lot of 8 square cuadras of land.

"Art. 6. Each colonist has the right to purchase from 1 to 4 lots of land, each lot to be of the aforesaid size, viz: 16 square cuadras, at the rate of 2 dollars (8s.) the square cuadra, payable in ten years; one-tenth to be paid each year.

"Art. 7. A title of ownership is given gratis to the colonists after his having cultivated the land during five years.

"All these concessions, from article 1 to article 5, are given gratis to the colonists by the Paraguayan Government.

"On 50 colonists being established, they name amongst themselves 5 municipals, whose duties are determined by the Government. At the same time they propose three intelligent men to act as Justices of the Peace, the Government electing the one amongst them who appears to be the most capable.

"Every colonist, after having been established for a period of six years, has the right to a recompense of 10 dollars for every thousand fruit trees planted by himself on his ground."

The above more than liberal advantages and privileges conceded to European immigrants by the Paraguayan Government have been hitherto faithfully carried out in the case of the German colony, but it is perhaps as well to remark that, were immigration into Paraguay to set in on a large scale, it is difficult to see how the Paraguayan Government, however well disposed they might be, would be able to meet the expenses incurred, by their Immigration Law, with the very limited revenue the State at present disposes of. Nevertheless, it can safely be asserted that the present Government, fully understanding the imperative necessity for the advancement of their country of attracting European immigration, are prepared to offer the utmost in their power to attain this end, and I feel sure that, appreciating as they do the English character, they would welcome with the greatest pleasure British colonists, more especially those emigrating with a view to farming, rearing cattle, etc., for which purposes the country is admirably adapted in many respects, and, indeed, offers peculiar advantages over the Argentine Republic, viz., in cheapness of land, extraordinary fertility of soil, and last, but not least, security of life. Englishmen in the Argentine Republic, for the most part, are wholly ignorant of the vast field for enterprise and capital comprised within Paraguay, and, moreover, many, not without cause, are prejudiced against the country, owing to the still lingering recollection of that disastrous expedition of what was called the "Lincolnshire Farmers," started by Messrs Robinson and Fleming in the year 1878. The Minister of the Interior, in his Report for 1881, touches upon immigration in the following sense, and which I quote in translation:—

"It is true that the Public Treasury has been called upon to advance sums of money, in order to support the two Colonies, viz., Villa Hayes and San Bernardino. Nor has this increased outlay alone been caused by the daily maintenance of the individual colonists, seeing that it has been found requisite to provide them with tools and implements of various kinds, as well as with horses, oxen, and milch cows. In addition to these different things, the purchase of lands, on which to establish the 'San Bernardino' Colony; the delineation of such lands, and the location thereon, of the respective colonists have, in themselves, involved considerable outlay. Up to the 31st March last (1882), the Government expenditure on both Colonies amounted to 23,340 dol. 29 c. Despite the circumstance, however, that no inconsiderable portion of its revenue has been employed by the Government in favour of the Colonies, a well-grounded hope is entertained that great advantages to the country will accrue therefrom, due to increase of population and of national production, and, above all, to the good name which the country is gaining for itself abroad by dint of the wise laws which you have sanctioned, and amongst which the Immigration Law occupies the foremost place."

In spite of the advantages afforded to emigrants, and the enterprises for which the country offers so vast a field, there are two great disadvantages from which Paraguay unfortunately suffers with regard to European emigration. One is its remoteness and inaccessibility, and its being shut out from any but South American markets; and the other is the great heat of its summer. The climate is certainly not unhealthy, but perhaps unsuitable to European labour during the heats of summer. This, however, is of course less applicable to the southern districts on the River Paraná.

WRECK OF THE HULTON CHAYTOR.

OFFICIAL REPORT.

TO THE MINISTER OF MARINE.

Patagones, 2nd.

Urgent.

I have the honour to inform Your Excellency that, on the 25th ult., at noon, a steamer steering S.W. was seen E.S.E. of our anchorage, at a great distance, I observed that the heavy sea on her beam was forcing her on the south part of the N.E. Bank. She had full steam on, but shortly after she began to let it off, and, seeing she was aground, I ordered the fires to be lighted and steam got up at once, to go to her assistance. Meanwhile, I sent Sub-Lieutenants Leroune and De la Puente on board her in two well-manned boats, to help her as much as possible.

They found her aground on the South of the N.E. Bank, about six miles from the anchorage ground and ¼ of a mile from the channel, and the crew engaged in throwing coal overboard, to lighten her. Seeing that the Constitucion could not get near the wreck without great danger, I decided to remain at my anchorage, but sent all my boats to help her; they succeeded in gettieg her off at the following full tide, and on the 26th, at 3 a.m., she came to anchor two cables' length from the Constitucion.

The next day her commander asked me to take her out of the port, and I agreed; but, later on, he told me that he thought his stern post was damaged and he would first like to lighten the ship at the stern and examine her. They are now engaged in that work, part of my crew helping them.

The steamer is British, called the Hulton Chaytor; of iron, three masted, 186 feet long, 27 beam, 16 depth, 470 tons register, loading 900; she is a screw, with engines of 90 horse-power nominal. She is bound from Newcastle-on-Tyne to Valparaiso for orders, calling at Havre; she has on board 500 tons of hydraulic machinery, saundries, and coal, and is now drawing 12 feet. Her crew, including master, Richard Forster, number 17; the properietors Laws, Surtus, ship and cargo insured; she is an old vessel and was registered in London in 1879 with the number 26,901.

The master declares that he was out in his reckoning and thought when he was nearing the coast that he was 29 miles South of San Blas, and that the land he sighted was between Punta Rosa and Rio Negro. The Hulton Chaytor owes her safety to the fineness of the weather and the opportune assistance she received, as, if she had remained on the bank twelve hours longer, she would certainly have proved a total loss. The master admits this and expresses his great obligations for the service rendered him by the Constitucion.

I respectfully salute Y.E.,

Martin Rivadavia

Buenos Aires, March 2nd.

To Martin Rivadavia,

I have your telegram, and am glad that the assistance rendered by you and the crew under your command was effectual in saving the vessel you refer to.

The Titania's Mails.

London, March 5.

In the French Senate on Saturday a debate took place on the Bill for the organization of the French law courts in Tunis. Replying to the Duc de Broglie, M. Challemel-Lacour, the Minister for Foreign Affairs, said that all the Powers except one were favourable to the abrogation of the Capitulations, and would consent to it if they found an orgauization giving all the guarantees which that system assured. He hoped to conclude an amicable arrangement even with England, the Power referred to. The Bill was then adopted.

Our Paris Correspondent says there is every probability that Mr Frank Byrne will shortly be released. Six affidavits, some of them made by members of Parliament, are to be sent to Paris to prove that he was in London on the day of the Phœnix Park murders.

We learn from Havre that the British Government has applied for the extradition of Walsh, who was arrested there on Thursday last.

Our Geneva Correspondent telegraphs that the Council of State, after long hesitation, has finally resolved by a majority of one to reject the appeal of Miss Charlesworth and Miss Booth against their expulsion. The two ladies left Lausanne on Saturday for Paris on their way to this country, where Miss Booth will hold a series of meetings and give an account of her experiences in Switzerland.

Our New York Correspondent telegraphs that the Tariff Bill was passed by Congress on Saturday, the votes being 152 to 116. The rates are substantially the same as recommended by the Tariff Commission. Our Correspondent says that the Bill gives little satisfaction to anybody. The iron, wool, and other industries affected declare that the Bill ruins them. The Free Traders say it is not what they wanted, but is a concession, which will be followed by others next session.

Our Correspondent at Maritzburg telegraphs that affairs in Pondoland are very threatening, and that traders are preparing to leave the country. It is feared that the Basutos may become involved in the complication.

Her Majesty held a Council at Windsor on Saturday, and pricked the list of Sheriffs for England and Wales. Lord Kensington presented the Address from the House of Commons in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

The confirmation of the election of Dr Benson as Archbishop of Canterbury, took place on Saturday in the church of St. Mary-le-Bow, Cheapside. The Lords Commissioners included seven bishops of the province.

Mr. George Latham, the Liberal candidate for Mid-Cheshire, on Saturday addressed a meeting of his supporters at Knutsford, where the Conservatives have their headquarters. In the evening the Conservative candidate, the Hon. Alan Egerton, spoke at Lymm. Votes of confidence were passed at these gatherings. The nomination will take place on Thursday, and the polling on Wednesday, the 14th inst.

Mr Arthur Hodgson was formally adopted as the Conservative candidate for Frome on Saturday evening. Mr Hodgson, in the course of an address, declared the action of the Government in Ireland had been impotent, vacillating, and wicked.

Yesterday morning the Rev. Julius Binns, who had engaged apartments for himself and his son at Matlock Bridge, was found in bed with his skull battered in, while the son in the same room had a fearful wound in his throat evidently self-inflicted.

Mr A Yates's Albert Cecil won the Trafford Park Handicap Steeplechase at Manchester on Saturday, the Selling Steeplechase Plate going to Mr. E. Jay's Louis d'Or, the Hunters' Steeplechase Plate to Mr E. R. Smith's Havoc, the Saturday Selling Hurdle Race to Mr R. Gladstone's Goodness, the March Hurdle Race Plate to Mr A. Cooper's Beatus, and the Hunters' Hurdle Race Plate to Mr. E. Jay's Kempsey.

At the Central Criminal Court on Saturday Elizabeth Stanger, the wife of Urban Napoleon Stanger, who disappeared from his place of business in St. Luke's nearly a year and a half ago, was found guilty of having committed perjury on the trial of Stumm, who was convicted at the Old Bailey in December of having forged Stanger's signature, and ordered to be kept in penal servitude for ten years. Sentence upon Mrs Stanger will be passed today.

In two cases of attempted robbery with violence which came before the Recorder at the Old Bailey Sessions on Saturday, sentences of five years' penal servitude with twenty-five lashes were passed.

The stock markets on Saturday exhibited increased firmness, and prices, particularly in the home railway department, closed at an advance of ¼ to more than 1 per cent. North British stock was actively purchased, and rose for the day 1¼ per cent. Consols left off at 102¼ to ⅜ for money, and 102 0-16, 11-16 for the account.

LONDON LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

MR. PARNELL'S "HAP'ORTH OF TAR."

February 27, 1883.

Mr. Parnell has had an uphill game to play, and his usual spirit and cleverness have not proved equal to his audacity in moving an amendment to the Address, which was virtually a protest against the Crimes Act. Nothing could be less favourable for such a protest than events at the present moment, when the English public is in one of its periodic virtuous indignation fits, and is lashed into an anti-Irish fever every morning—Sundays excepted—by the Times newspaper. It is not, therefore surprising that even Mr. Parnell's own friends should some of them have abandoned him, and that after a short debate on an amendment, treated almost with scorn, he went into the lobby with 14 supporters, whilst the Government had a majority of 118. Mr. Parnell, in his most sinister, sullen and perverse moods, is too clever not to have known that he was in this case wasting his breath. His manner, wanting in its accustomed elasticity, proved that he was executing a thankless task imposed on him by the necessity of pleasing ignorant clients. A great deal of what he said was true, but it was not to the point, and the details he adduced and which were to the point, were neither startling as instances of grievous oppression, nor were they in all cases accurate. The point of his amendment was levelled at the administration of the law in Ireland, the packing of juries, unjust sentences, needless imprisonments; and had his examples of oppression been more heartrending than they were and his accusation against Lord Spencer and the legal authorities more true, the circumstances under which they were related would have given the same easy victory that Mr. Porter, the Irish Attorney-General, and Mr. Plunkett, on behalf of the Conservative Opposition, obtained over him last night.

There is a general cry of triumph this morning in a certain portion of the press—I may say in the press generally—and it is a significant fact, that an evening paper—edited by Mr. Morley, just elected for Newcastle by an immense majority—is this evening silent, whilst last night, when the Times had in the morning in its usual blatant, bellowing form of English oxen-headed insolence, asked "Who is Mr. Parnell," that he should have the audacity to frame such an amendment to the Address to Her Majesty? the Pall-Mall Gazette quietly replied—"Mr. Parnell is the duly-elected representative for the city of Cork, and in that capacity is entitled to move any censure he pleases."

Mr. Parnell knew well the inutility of his audacity, and it is a pity that he could not have persuaded his Irish friends—and, shall I say, subscribers—that it was not only useless, but, in the highest degree prejudicial to his and their cause. So well did Mr. Parnell feel his weakness, that in pretending to detail instances of packed juries and abuses of the Curfew Clause in the Act, he really leant on a stand ing and real grievance, the faulty and piecemeal legislation of the Government, even in what they intended to be radical measures. With some dexterity he praised Mr. Chamberlain and Herbert Gladstone as the only English members of the House or Government who understood the Irish question. He there put his finger on the fissure which is, perhaps, destined to widen more and more when the Premier gets back to his place on the day after tomorrow.

Lord Hartington and Sir Vernon Harcourt have it now all their own way, and they are not disposed to touch Irish legislation this session. Mr. Gladstone, pale and emaciated, might have acquiesced, but Mr. Gladstone, with a glowing colour in his cheeks, and fidgetting about the station at Cannes, on his way to Paris, like a hale and busy man of fifty, may, after all, listen to Mr. Parnell's more or less sincere assurance, that never had a Government such a chance as the present one for allaying agitation in Ireland by passing a Land Act complete, and not with the defects the existing Act possesses, and never has such an opportunity been so lost of saving a ship for the want of a "hap'orth of tar." That "hap'orth of tar" will stick. Its meaning is true. Mr. Parnell was not far wrong when he said—"You talk about the fewness of our numbers and of the loyalty of Ulster. I would tell you that the people of Ulster are no more loyal than the people of Munster. It might be said that Ireland only numbered 5,000,000, but there is a Greater Ireland beyond the seas."

The threat of the "greater Ireland" amounts to nothing, because there is a "greater England" beyond the seas, which includes the best intellect and most cultivated portion of the United States, that would not rest under a charge of "connivance at assassination." Moreover, the English reply—"we give you a Land Bill, we will remedy its defects, we will make concession after concession, placing the rural population of Ireland in a better position than is enjoyed by the agriculturalists of Great Britain; but that is not what you want, and, at all hazards, the integrity of the Empire must be preserved." To this the Irish have no reply; but, on the other hand, we are bound to confess that the cry of "integrity of the Empire" as well as the indignation against the "connivance at murder" is not all of it honest.

These things are made stalking-horses to hunt down those who would threaten the assumed rights and unique privileges in this country of landed property, more dear to the holders even than the integrity of the Empire, and sanctified in their eyes by traditions more sacred to them than even the Sixth Commandment. For it cannot be denied that this law hath not been kept in the hearts of all the lords of the soil in olden times, and even in very recent times. It was not in the hearts of some women, who not long ago wore mob caps and ribbons in memory of Charlotte Corday!

It is from these stand-points we must look down on the squabbles of the House of Commons, and listen leisurely to the angry bellowing of the Times. We must not be led to the supposition that Mr. Parnell is extinguished, or were he proved to be "No. 1" himself, the Irish question is to be settled by "Crimes Acts" and Coercion.

IRELAND.

THE PHŒNIX PARK MURDERS.

A SOLDIER SHOT BY AN OFFICER.

Dublin, March 4.

Chief-Constable Wilkinson and Inspector Marshall, of the Rochdale Police, left Dublin on Saturday morning for Holyhead, en route for Rochdale. The Dublin police are now quite satisfied as to the identity of "No 1," but they are not at all sanguine of success in making him amenable. It should be remembered—and statements which have been published make it necessary to recall the fact—that Carey never alleged that either Frank Byrne or P. J. Sheridan was "No. 1," and that, in fact, Carey did not identify Sheridan at all, but merely said he was informed he was Sheridan, information which there is good reason to believe was accurate enough, and which is confirmed to some extent by Sheridan's admission that he was in Ireland disguised as a priest, and further confirmed by information since received by the police. As to Frank Byrne, Carey only mentioned him incidentally. It does not follow, however, that all that is to be disclosed on these as well as on other points has been made public. The real "No. 1," it is believed, is identical with the man whose portrait was found in the luggage of John Walsh, of Rochdale, and which is now in the possession of the Dublin police. He has a wife and five children, and I am not far wrong in saying that at present the police have not the remotest idea of where he is. The universal opinion here is that neither Sheridan nor Byrne will be given up to the British authorities. It is not improbable that one more of the prisoners will be accepted as an approver—a leader in the organisation, but who took no actual part in either of the overt acts charged, the Phœnix Park assassinations or the attack upon Mr. Field. The police have in their possession letters to show that Parliamentary elections were not the only elections towards the expenses of which contributions were made from the Land League funds.

Cork, Sunday night

The Ballincollig Military Barracks was the scene of a very melancholy and fatal accident on Friday night. The victim was a sergeant of the Scots Greys, named Shadrach Goold, who it appeared with two other men had been told off for special duty in connection with some suspicious persons who had been seen about the barracks. On Thursday night the report of a gun had been heard outside the walls, and the colonel of the regiment had while in his billiard room seen a person moving about in a suspicious manner in front of his quarters. The appearance of this individual, coupled with the fact of the gunshot having been heard previously, caused the authorities to have precautions taken against any possible plot or intended attack. Accordingly orders were issued to have a special patrol in the vicinity of the officers' quarters on Friday night. The night was very dark, and it was impossible to distinguish objects at any distance, when Goold and his men concealed themselves beneath some bushes at a short distance from each other. They were still watching, when Lieut. Torrens, the orderly officer for the night, went on his rounds of inspection. Before leaving his quarters the officer had loaded a small Colt pistol, which he placed in his right pocket, still holding it in his hand. He also wore his sword, and had on a uniform cloak. He was crossing the space between the barracks and the gate at the east side when Sergeant Goold ran against him. Concluding that he had been attacked, the officer quickly drew his hand from his pocket, quite forgetting, in the excitement of the moment, that he still held the pistol, and made a blow at his supposed assailant. In doing so his hand touched the hammer, which fired the pistol, and the next moment Sergeant Goold fell dying into the arms of the officer who had thus unintentionally caused his death. The bullet had entered the left side close beneath the heart, and in a few minutes the unfortunate man expired. The lieutenant, than whom no one more regrets the accident, is nephew of General Torrens, commanding the Cork district, and bears a high character with his brother officers. He is the possessor of a gold medal awarded for his bravery in saving the lives of a ship's crew. It is stated that he knew nothing whatever of the patrol being placed there, which probably accounts for his precipitate action. It is to be regretted that he set out alone instead of being accompanied by an escort, as is usual in such cases. Goold was 28 years of age, and leaves a wife and four children to lament his fate. The inquest upon Sergeant Goold was held yesterday afternoon at Ballincollig. The jury found that death was the result of an accident, and attached no blame to Lieutenant Torrens.

THE WEST COAST WAR.

FOREIGN ACTION AT HAND.

At the last moment, before the mail closes, I am enabled to give some important information to The World which as yet is a secret in Lima. It is quite probable that this long-drawn-out war will soon be arranged by foreign interference. The Legations in Lima of England, France, the United States and Italy, by agreement, write to their governments by this steamer, forcibly setting out the absolute ruin entailed on all interests in Peru, both native and foreign, by the obstinacy of Chili in insisting on terms of peace that have been stigmatized an exorbitant and unjust by more than one foreign nation. They allege, and correctly, that this condition of affairs must not endure; that Chili is wantonly standing in the way of all progress, and that so long as she holds her enemy prostrate, appropriates her treasures and causes general bankruptcy within her borders, the interest of neutrals are simply laughed at or ignored. The Ministers therefore urge their respective governments to join in indicating to Chili, in such a manner as to leave no room for evasion, the necessity of signing a treaty of peace with Peru, taking as a base the transfer of Tarapaca by that country and reserving the question of money indemnity, the possession of the Lobos guano islands and of Arica and Tacna to some future day, when an arrangement may be calmly reached by diplomacy or arbitration. The governments are requested to cable their replies to their representatives at Santiago, so that no time will be lost in circumlocution or red-tapeism. I am quite positive that should such a representation be jointly made Chili and Peru would be at peace within a few weeks from the notification. As the property and interests of their people are in serious jeorpardy on the coast, it is hoped that in justice a speedy and favorable answer will be made.—New York paper.

The Immigration returns for March show 3,392 against 2,951 in same month last year. Not bad, yet nothing extraordinary.

SENSATION IN MILITARY CIRCLES IN FRANCE.

Versailles, Feb. 27.

The dismissal of the Duke d'Aumale from the army, and the summary way in which his nephews have been turned out, have caused no small sensation in all military circles; not so much on account of the personal popularity of the family—for their habit of "letting I dare not wait upon I would" has estranged from them many of the bolder spirits—as because a number of officers who have what are called here political antecedents of a compromising character are not unreasonably apprehensive that the stern Republicanism of General Thibaudin may treat them with even less ceremony than Messieurs d'Orléans. The expulsion is regarded as one more mistake, and it is condemned as wholly unprovoked. However, there are two sides to every question, and I understand that the sudden alarm into which the Government and the Chamber were thrown by the appearance of Prince Napoleon's manifesto was due in reality to the fact of a confidential report having reached the authorities at that time which led them to entertain fears that the confusion into which the death of Gambetta had thrown the Republican Party might lead some enterprising General to take the initiative of a military "pronunciamiento," and by means of a "plebiscite," after turning out the existing Chamber, to make the Duke d'Aumale Président of the Republic, "en attendant mieux."

That report, which was long and exhaustive, created great impression on M. Devés, the Minister of Justice, and M. Martin Fallières, Minister of the Interior, and threw President Grévy and his surroundings into a panic. On the other hand, M. Duclerc, General Billot, and Admiral Jauréguiberry simply laughed at it as a weak invention. But all they could say proved unavailing to remove the "idée fixe" which had taken hold of the President of the Republic and the other members of the Cabinet. The story it told was very plausible. It fully confirmed the revelations made by M. Andrieux, in his speech at the commencement of the Session in November, as to the feeling of discouragement and disgust which the approbation given to the wildest Radicalism, and the wantonly offensive attacks on the Priesthood, the Army, and the Judicial Bench, had created among that huge "juste-milieu" which, when it withdraws its support from any Government of "régime" inevitably causes its fall. It gave very circumstantial particulars, pointing out how, in large garrison towns, not only society kept the Préfet at arm's length, but the officers of the garrison ostentatiously abstained from appearing at the balls and receptions of Madame la Préfète. Commercial people complained of the badness of trade, the peasants of heavy taxation, the men of business of the financial incompetency of the Government. The report went into very minute details, relating how, for instance, in one of the Eastern provinces, where the Protestants muster very strongly, the "pasteurs" had not received in January the scanty stipend which the State should have paid them in December. It further pointed out that the leniency shown by the authorities to Communist and revolutionary agitators alienated and frightened the middle classes and the peasantry, whilst the Revolutionists themselves whom nothing short of absolute impunity would satisfy, were not conciliated by the indulgence extended to them. The report concluded by pointing out the absolute necessity for the Government to turn over a new leaf, to assume such a vigorous attitude as to inspire confidence in its friends, and command at the hands of its enemies at least something less markedly offensive than overt contempt. If this were not done, the very eminent functionary who drew up the report thought that the existing Government, M. Grévy, Chamber, and all, might be swept away one fine morning, and would not find a finger raised in their defence.

At any time such a report must have commanded attention, but what gave it much greater effect than it would have otherwise possessed is the fact that it reached the Government on Saturday, the 13th of January last, and that it tallied substantially in its description of the state of affairs with Prince Napoleon's Manifesto, which was placarded in the streets on the morninh of Tuesday, the 16th. That there could have been any connivance between the author of the Manifesto and the author of the report is too wild a supposition to be seriously entertained for a single moment, but that such a warning cry should have reached them from two such different quarters simultaneously struck M. Grevey, M. Devés, and M. Martin Fallières as significant in the extreme, and caused them serious alarm. Oddly enough, the mere consciousness of the insecurity of their position was sufficient to throw into a panic M. Floquet and the majority of the Chamber, though they had only the Napoleonic Manifesto to go by, and were not aware of the existence of the far more significant document that backed it up.

M. Grévy, with M. Devés and M. Martin Fallières, all agreed with M. Floquet and his party, that Prince Napoleon was not "un adversaire sérieux," but that the Orleans Princes were formidable foes. In the "conciliabula" which took place at the Elysée, and ultimately resulted in the formation of the Ferry Ministry, one eminent person remarked to another eminent person, "Voyez-vous, ce que nous devons craindre c'est une coalition possible de gens bien élevés." The Orleans family were then set down as far more formidable foes than they ever can be; and they have been cashiered, and will probably be exiled, because a military adventurer might find one of them useful as the figurehead of a "coup d'état" or a military "pronunciamiento." Gen. Billot pointed out that to remove them by Decree, without any charge, and without the sanction of a court-martial or a court of inquiry, would have the effect of creating a mischievous political spirit in the army. But he was overruled, so was Admiral Jauréguiberry; so was Mr Duclerc; and M. Thibaudin, a man of energy and decision, was found to endorse the vigorous, but injudicious, act which has made every man who has a commission in the French Army a personol foe to the Republican "régime."

Whether the Orleans Princes did actually intrigue or not is a nice question, on which I would not presume to decide. I believe they did not, and do not hesitate to say that they were out of harmony with their sorroundings if they did not. Everybody intrigues in France, and "hodie mihi cras tibi" is the only recognised motto of a Republican who understands his epoch.

Wickets were drawn punctually at 5 p.m., Lomas then having 7 wickets to go down for 30 runs wanted to win, and from the aspect of the game at the conclusion it seemed a certainty for the suburban Club, had time allowed the match to be completed.

This was one of the best matches witnessed at Palermo for many years; and we must congratulate our cricketing friends on the decided revival in this ever-popular game.

EDITOR'S TABLE

The fine steamer Titania, of the Clyde line, has made a rapid run out—25 days. The agents, Messrs. Tomkinson and Dungey, kindly sent us London papers of the 5th, from which we extract in another column. The Dublin police have again lost the scent of the famous "No. 1."

Yesterday was a truly delightful autumn day, with a pleasant nip in the air, and the shopkeepers got the benefit of it, the fashionable "magasins" being crowded with ladies and children all day. There wasn't over much general news going. The Fenian threat to blow up the London Post Office does not cause much attention. The papers to hand say that there is a manifest improvement in the political state of Ireland, and confidence is slowly returning.

Some of our colleagues are again crying "Wolf!" about a coming revolution in Banda Oriental. There are few signs of it visible to the naked eye, yet, as the preparations are said to be principally going on in the departments, the rumours may have some foundation, but we don't believe in them.

Is the Postmaster-General and General Administrator of Telegraphs of the Argentine Republic sick or asleep? Such is the question that has been put to us twenty times during the last two days. Since Saturday night the wires from the city to Corrientes have not been in working order, causing most serious loss of time to many persons. Surely it does not require a week, or even days, to repair a simple telegraph wire. This sort of work reminds us of the days of "carretas," and is a great discredit to the staff and General in command, the more so as the papers yesterday published official telegrams from Corrientes, dated 2nd inst.

We regret to hear of the death on Sunday last, of small-pox, of M. Capdebosc, the well-known French veterinary surgeon. The deceased gentleman was a high authority in his profession, and generally popular.

The Provincial Minister has given the camp Municipalities a rap over the knuckles, in a circular, for spending more money than is allotted to them in the Budget, and plainly tells them that in futnre the Government will not recognise a paper dollar not included in the estimates. Quite right. Running headlong into debt, without the ghost of a chance of paying it, is a weakness to which Municipalities in these regions are very much addicted. The Libertad says the circular is "the devil preaching a sermon."

The time for paying the famous "Renovacion de Marcas" tax is to be extended, we hear, for three months more.

Mexico has presented the National Government with all the exhibits it sent to the vanished Show in Plaza Once. A thousand thanks.

Dr Sandoval of this city has a scheme in his head that must prove a trump card when the whistle of the Iron Horse is heard in Bahia Blanca. He has asked the Government for a small cession of ground there to establish sea-baths, and also mineral ones, a kursaal, and all the accessories, to turn the place into a Trouville. His petition should be granted. Fancy going by the night express from the Central—at 50 miles an hour—and reaching Bahia Blanca in time for an ante-breakfast "header" there! Glorious! It will come to this before the country is five years older, and the glories of Pocitos will be things of the past.

Governor Alvaro Barros of Patagonia has resigned, and Colonel Winter is first favourite for the vacant post.

The French Minister, M Rouvier, left for France yesterday. The Port Captain turned out his Sunday 'falua' and the steamer "Mosca" for the distinguished traveller, who was seen off by a crowd of friends. Mr Consul Wagner is Chargé d'Affaires during his absence.

An amusing story is told of Thomas Chambers. He was a very bad writer, and used to write home to his parents, but when his letters arrived there they could not be read. His mother used to say, 'Never mind, just let them lie tae oor Tam comes hame, and he'll read themtae us himsel."

Every day now our colleagues have a stereotyped line in their telegrams from Montevideo—"La Bolsa muerta." A subscriber wants to know when it will be buried, as it is an old friend of his and he wishes to attend the funeral. He has his best black suit packed in a carpet bag for the last week, ready to start for the 'entierro' at a moment's notice.

There were no fewer than three murders in Montevideo on Monday night, one of the victims being a mere boy.

There is a squeeze for labour on the Tucuman sugar estates, as the hands are all running away to obtain work on the railway extensions. The planters as usual, are bawling out for Government interference. The Government has no right whatever to interfere. As well ask for interference when your cook bids you good morning before cooking your breakfast.

Carrier pigeons are now being used by some of the Montevidean papers to get news and leading articles from this side which would be seized in the Post and the telegraph office down there. The Press, like Love, laughs at locksmiths.

The Quartette Society has in preparation a grand concert of classical music for the glorious 25th of May.

One of the 'Heathens and Turks' who were lately here with a lot of dancing bears was eaten, or half eaten, by the bigest grizzly of the lot lately in Minas. The Siglo of Montevideo gives an account of the affair.

The Montevidean telegraph wires were interrupted yesterday up to dinner time, so there is no late news from that quarter as to when the 'Bolsa Muerta' is to be interred.

The Colon opera company embarked for the

BUENOS AIRES.
THE BRUSH ELECTRIC LIGHT is being rapidly and very extensively adopted in all the principal cities of the United States. In more than thirty towns and small cities it is now exclusively employed for the entire public illumination. The excellence and value of the Brush Light and system is now placed beyond all possible question.
Over 18,000 Brush Arc-lamps are at present in use in the United States alone, and about one hundred Companies have been formed there to supply the light as their regular business. The Stocks of these Companies are either quoted at a considerable premium or are not in the market at all, while it is estimated that the earnings of these lamps exceeded four millions of dollars gold during the past year.
The manufactrne and supply of the apparatus for the new SYSTEM of STORING ELECTRICITY, lately invented by Mr. Brush, has just been commenced by this Company, for which purpose new and very extensive works containing 900 H. P. have been erected. This system inaugurates a new era in the field of electrical applications, which, with it will make more rapid advances than they have done even within the past three years.

IT IS A LITTLE TROUBLE TO examine the pamphlet wrapped around each bottle of the true MURRAY & LANMAN'S FLORIDA WATER, so as to find the words "LANMAN & KEMP, New York," which are water-marked or stamped in pale letters on every page, but it is better to take this small amount of bother rather than to be imposed upon by a worthless counterfeit. Every leaf of the pamphlet around the genuine has these words in it, which though pale and faint, can be easily seen when held up to the light, and no FLORIDA WATER is genuine that does not have this test mark.

ON 'CHANGE.
April 3rd, 1883

Patacon	25.00
Cedulas A	106¼
Cedulas E	86¾
National Bank Shares....	105½

There seems to be a fresh breeze in the National Bank Share market, and they said on 'Change this morning that this month will be marked by a heavy speculation in this speculative stock. Cedulas ruled very flat, and the Bull King sold a few cash, which caused prices to rule still weaker. Cedulas A, however, rose ¼ as the stock was bought not only for investment but also to pay off mortgages, and of course in the event of nothing being done in London in the way proposed by Dr. Llambi Campbell, Series A will at once advance in price, being an 8 o/o stock, and the most favored amongst investors. National Bank Shares opened hard at 105½, and owing to a few cash sales by an English broker fell to 105, but closed again at 105¾. For end of month 2,570 sold, beginning at 106, rising to 106½, then dropping to 106, and finally closing at 106¼. In Cedulas Series E very little done, owing to the few buyers on time, 36,000 sold cash and but 10,000 for end of month. Business on the Bolsa to-day hardly gave brokerage enough for one broker.
Great complaint was made on 'Change about the non-payment yesterday of the coupons on the new Municipal Bonds. They began to pay them to-day, and some German holders were justly indignant at the default yesterday. Since yesterday they should have been paid.
Mr. S. B. Gahan took leave of his friends on 'Change; he goes to-night in the Jupiter with his cousin Mr. J. F. Gahan to catch the Galicia on a pleasure trip to Europe. We have had few more prosperous brokers in this market than Mr. S. B. Gahan; they say on 'Change that he made within the last four years $150,000.
The sale of the most historic house in San Jose de Flores is reported; the beautiful quinta belonging to Mrs. Terrero, daughter of the late J. M. Rosas. The place measures 70x120, has a fine country residence, beautiful garden, sold for $420,000 ⅀. It is pleasantly situated on the main road and just at the entrance to the Village of the Plain.
Exchange rules the same as yesterday; they say that the Provinsial Bank has arranged with Messrs. Baring for the balance of the bonds held, some ten millions pats., to be drawn against as occasion requires of course; this means much for our exchange market.
The sales at the ring were as follows:—
Cedulas—
For cash A 18,200 at 100½-½
For cash E 36,500 at 86¼-½
For April 30th E 10,000 at 86¾
Sales, 64,700
National Bank Shares—
For cash 592 at 105½-105-½
For April 30th 2,570 at 106-½-½-106-½
Sales, 3,162
The Southern Railway Board, we hear, has paid to Mr. Blas Dhers, the nailer of Azul, $200,000 ⅀ for a small portion of his quinta through which the railway in its extension to Bahia Blanca passes.
The Rosario Custom-House produced in the month of March last $277,252, and at the rate things are advancing in that Province, the Rosario Custom-House will soon give as much as the Montevidean
Some idea of what is going on in the port of Santa Fé in the way of shipping can be formed by reading the following list of vessels loading in that port:—
VESSELS LOADING
It. barque Celon—wheat.
do Nueva Carlota—wheat.
do Constantino—linseed.
do Cesira—wheat.
do Emma Mearello—linseed.
Brit. barque Elen—wheat.
Four more foreign barques are expected up there to load cereals. And in the little port of Santo Tomé there are nine vessels loading wheat. Never before have they had such a season as the present in Santa Fé.
Another new steamer has been launched in Glasgow, built for Raggio & Co. for the River Plate trade.
The ss. Holbien has cleared from Rosario with the following cargo:—
6,000 bags wheat
1,600 goat skins,
270 bars copper
800 bultos minerals
2,000 dry hides
2,000 salted hides
12 bales goat skins
150 bales wool
56 bultos plata piña
180 bags minerals.
At San Nicolas she will load bales for Antwerp.
The British barque San Lorenzo has been despatched for Falmouth with 711,000 kilos wheat.
The Titania, Captain McLean, has made a capital run out; she left Liverpool on 6th March and entered Montevideo on 1st April. We are much indebted to the agents, Messrs. Tomkinson & Dungey, for late London papers by this steamer.
The telegraph line with Montevideo continues interrupted, and this has given rise to apprehension that there is trouble down there; but the letters we received this morning refer in nothing to any such rumour.
Exchange was passed to-day at all rates; bills were passed at 49⅝-49¼ and 49⅝. Merchants that drew yesterday at 49¼, to-day refused to draw higher than 49⅛, and one house passed its bills to-day at that rate. In French exchange we hear of fs.500,000 passed to-day at 5.23 on France.
Messrs. Salas & Cernadas sold to-day four square leagues of land North of Gainza and along the route of the Transandine Railway for $180,000 ⅀ per league; buyer Mr. T. E. Jones of Montevideo; and the same parties have also sold one square league for $250,000 currency, payable in eight yearly instalments: Mr. J. Murphy Rojas buyer. These are sales of the very highest importance.
The works of the Transandine Railway will, we understand, be begun this week, when the empalme papers are all signed and executed.
At the Municipality to-day there was no meeting for want of a quorum. It was decided, however, by those present to settle the dispute about the Boca road with Messrs. Calzadilla and Co., by paying to them $75,000 ⅀ in full compensation for claims etc.
Two thousand salted hides sold this morning at reserved price.
At afterhours about 1,000 National Bank Shares sold for end of month at 106¼. Cedulas ruled rather flatter.
None of the private banks discounting today, and money felt to be tighter. The Provincial Bank discounted 6½ millions yesterday, and the National Bank about 150,000 pats. Still there is a very strong demand for money and discount brokers have their hands full of pagares. In fact, the market, they say, is over supplied with pagares.
Telegrams received to-day state that the British steamer towed into the Harbor of San Blas is discharging her cargo there, and going under repairs. The salvage gained by Capt. Rivadavia, of the Constitucion, will amount to something handsome.
Sovereigns and other gold bought to-day at 2⅝ and 3 per cent premium paid.
Exchange passed to-day is for the mail of 8th. Rates for sterling rule weak.
The Municipal Coupons were paid to-day and the cause of the delay yesterday was that the Lord Mayor wished to pay in cheques and not in money.
Coal rules the same, only retail sales to report, and prices unaltered.
Wool markets very dull this morning, and little animation in the barracas after the very brisk business of the last fortnight. This great dullness in the wool market is attributed to the out telegraph wires with Montevideo.
Mr. Llorente is the purchaser of Madame Manuelita Terrera's beautiful quinta in Flores.
All the country papers publish articles in favor of Mr. Goyo Soler, the candidate for the Governorship of this Province. A meeting is to be held to proclaim him.
The sales at afterhours were:—
National Bank Shares—
For April 4th 100 at 105½
For April 30th 400 at 106¼ seller
For May 31st 150 at 108
For June 30th 100 at 109½

The London and River Plate Bank, Limited, Buenos Aires.

This Company having purchased all the property, rights, patents, privileges and concessions in the Argentine, Uruguay and Paraguay Republics, formerly the property of the Companies known as the "Pantelephone," and the "Bell Perfeccionado," is prepared to sell or lease telephones or telephone lines or use in any part of the Argentine Republic, the Banda Oriental or Paraguay. It possesses exclusive rights for all of these countries for the Bell and Blake Telephones, known throughout the Plate as the Bell Perfeccionado,

The only instrument used in the United States

And by the United Telephone Company of England and by nearly all the principal Telephone Exchanges of the world.

The company is now receiving the largest shipments, it is believed, of telephone material ever obtained at one time by any Company existing, including 650 complete sets of telephone instruments, 1000 miles of wire, 40 miles of cable conductor, and switch board and Central Office appliances all of latest and best manufacture.

The Company is not subsidiary to any other, and is under no obligation to purchase its supplies from any particular source.

It proposes to furnish the public of Buenos Aires with the best telephonic instruments obtainable, and the best service practicable.

Thus far, in consequence of the lack of Bell instruments, only four hundred of its nearly one thousand subscribers have been supplied.

The Pan instruments in use by the remainder will now as rapidly as possible be replaced by the Bell and a better service than any heretofore known in Buenos Aires will be the result.

Any information desired will be most cheerfully afforded on application in person, or by letter at the Company's offices 26 and 28 Calle San Martin.

Remataremos a la mas alta postura y dinero de contado, por orden de su propietario.

El area de campo arriba indicado compuesto de 7 leguas y 88 cuadras, situado en la Provincia de Cordoba en el Rio Cuarto, pedania de Teyna y Peñas, campo de primer orden, sin medano, ni sierra, cubierto de pastos con una poblacion, existiendo alli un rodeo de vacas que sirvira para mostrar la calidad de la hacienda, nacidas en esos mismos campos, un pozo con abundante agua, por las fuertes vertientes que tiene.

Esta campo queda en el angulo que forman los ferro-carriles Central Argentino y Andino, y dista de las estaciones Chañares de la primera linea y Velez Sarsfield de la segunda, lindando por el Norte con los deshechos del Rio 3º por el Sud con Don Pablo Rodriguez, por el Este con Jose Ferreira, y por el Oeste con los Sres. Aramburu.

Creemos escusado demostrar las ventajas que ofrece un campo en estas condiciones y que puede comprarse por un precio tan bajo como el que se ha fijado para la venta, que son dos mil quinientos ps. fuertes la legua cuadrada.

Titulos de primer orden.
